Your first couple of days (after quarantine period if you are asked to quarantine after your arrival) in Japan will be taken up by various administrative arrangements, including resident registration, signing up for national health insurance and comprehensive insurance, purchasing a commuter railway pass and opening a bank account. Further details and instructions will be provided when you arrive.

Insurance

All international students must enroll in the Japanese National Health Insurance (NHI) system (kokumin kenko hoken). NHI covers 70% of the cost of all standard medical and dental treatment in Japan. Further details will be explained when you arrive, and the GRIPS staff will help you with the enrolment procedures. NHI costs approximately 1,500 yen per person per month.

Other Insurance

This insurance covers costs related to death resulting from injuries as well as expenses incurred through unexpected accidents or illnesses; medical treatment for injuries to other people; compensation for property damage; and rescue expenses in the event of critical illness or death of students.

*The insurance during your quarantine will be provided by GRIPS or by your sponsor.

Others

Accompanying Family Members

International students can bring their families to Japan AFTER they arrive in Japan. If you plan to bring your family members to Japan as dependents, you can apply for Certificate of Eligibility (COE) for the status of Dependent at the Tokyo Regional Immigration Services Bureau on behalf of your family members. Please note that if you plan to bring your family members to Japan, you need to choose family accommodation from the beginning.

We ask you to think very carefully about bringing your family to Japan. Before making the final decision, please take all aspects into consideration. For example, your family may have difficulty in communicating with the neighbors and other locals; it is not easy to find a spot in a kindergarten here; and there may be unexpected extra financial burdens.

If you are inviting family members, please contact the Student Office and provide the information we require once you fix flight schedule of your family members.

Have a safe trip to Japan!

We look forward to meeting you soon at the National Graduate Institute for Policy Studies.
