An overview of EBSCO Discovery Service(EDS)

What is EBSCO Discovery Service(EDS)?

— all-inclusive search solution that makes in-depth research easy.

EBSCO Discovery Service (EDS) provides you with access to various research resources via a single entry point. Features and functionality include:

- Sophisticated Search — Rich metadata and superior relevance ranking technology
- Direct Access to Full Text — One-click access directly through the results list
- Intuitive Interface — Features and technology built on user research

How to access- go to library website (on campus)

The screenshot shows the library website with the following elements:

- Header: GRIPS logo, "政策研究大学院大学 図書館" (National Graduate Institute for Policy Studies Library), and navigation links for OPAC, MyLibrary, GRIPS, and Language (JP).
- Menu: HOME, News, Using the Library, Search & Find, and About Us.
- Search & Find Dropdown: A list of options including GRIPS OPAC, GRIPS Discovery Service (highlighted with a red box), E-Journals/E-Books search, Online Resources, GRIPS Repository, How To Find Materials, and Off Campus Access.
- Search Bar: A search input field with a "Search" button. Below it are search filters: Keyword (selected), Title, Author, and Full Text. Links for "Quick Guide (PDF)" and "Advanced search (Discovery Service)" are also present.
- Calendar: A calendar on the left side showing dates from 6 to 31, with a legend for 09:00 - 21:00 (white), 10:30 - 17:00 (blue), and Closed (red).
- Annotations: A green oval contains the text: "Click 'GRIPS Discovery Service' tab, enter keywords and click on 'search'. Or you can access to EDS via 'GRIPS Discovery Service' in 'Search & Find' menu." A red box highlights the "GRIPS Discovery Service" option in the dropdown menu.

The Effect of Monetary and Fiscal Policy on Bond Mutual Funds and Stock Market: An International Comparison

Author: Qureshi, Fiza; Khan, Habib Hussain; Rehman, Ijaz ur; Qureshi, Saba; Ghafoor, Abdul

Author Affiliation: University of Sindh; International Islamic University; Al Falah University; University of Sindh; Bahria University

Source: Emerging Markets Finance and Trade, October 2019, v. 55, iss. 13, pp. 3112-30

Publication Date: October 2019

Abstract: This study examines the relationship between bond fund flows, stock market returns and financial policies in developed and developing economies. The findings suggest a bidirectional (negative) relationship between bond flows and market returns in the presence of fiscal and monetary policy for developed countries. However, in the case of developing countries, bond flows follow the previous performance of market returns. Moreover, an expansionary monetary stance has a negative impact on bond flows while an expansionary fiscal policy exerts a positive influence on them. In addition, bond funds flourish in times of low economic activity in both developed and developing countries.

EDS Relevance Matching Priorities

-How is relevance ranking determined in EDS?-

The system has the following priorities and has no bias toward content from any provider:

1. Match on subject headings from controlled vocabularies
2. Match on article titles
3. Match on author keywords
4. Match on keywords within abstracts
5. Match on keywords within full text

Exact Matches: Exact matches are favored over partial matches – considering also the field in which those words appear (abstract vs. full text vs. title, etc.)

Density: Matches across multiple metadata fields are favored for relevance scoring (more is better). The scoring influence of repeat terms within individual metadata fields is minimized.

Value Ranking:

Recency / Currency

Recently published content is scored higher for relevance than older content

Document Types

Certain document types are weighted higher than others for relevance scoring, for example: “review articles” are valuable, while “book reviews” are not.

Document Length

Documents of a more substantial length have a heavier weighting (e.g., a ¼ page article is considered less valuable than a 4 page research paper)

Abstract: This study uses a dynamic general equilibrium model to quantify the effects of corruption and tax evasion on fiscal policy and economic growth. The model is calibrated to match estimates of tax evasion in developing countries. The calibrated model is able to generate reasonable predictions for net tax rates, the corruption associated with public investment projects, and the negative correlation between corruption and tax revenue. The presence of corruption and evasion is shown to have significant, but not large, negative effects on economic growth. The relatively moderate effects help explain the absence of a robust negative correlation between growth and corruption in cross-country data. The model also implies that cracking down on tax evasion before addressing corruption can be a bad idea and that higher wages for public officials can improve
